- 22) How did God use Paul's unjust treatment, though a Roman citizen, for advantage of the gospel?
- 23) In what ways are Christians the "salt of the earth" upon society? How can they lose that "saltiness"? How can a Christian insure he will keep that saltiness?
- 24) In what ways are Christians the "light of the world"? How can that light be hidden? How can a Christian insure he will keep his light shining?
- 25) What are the general responsibilities of Christians toward the poor?
- 26) What priorities will help determine how a Christian responds to a particular poor person?
- 27) How have government programs violated Biblical principles for helping the poor? What results have those violations have upon the poor?
- 26) How can social programs help advance the gospel? How can they become a hindrance to it?
- Case 1: You are Christian living in a Communist land. What should your general attitude be toward the government? How should you respond to each of these situations: You are directed to move to a new location. You are directed to do a different job. You are directed to abort your second child. You are directed to keep your religion private.
- Case 2: You are a Christian living in a country with a democratic republican form of government. What should be your response in the following situations: Imminent Domain is used to take your property. The government outlaws your charitable business. The government taxes you to pay for abortions. The government passes laws to restrict the expression of your religion in public. A government leader praises those who do evil while haranguing those who do good.
- Case 3: The two major candidates for a political office are a self proclaimed socialist with a 75% rating by the National Right to Life and an economic conservative libertarian with a 75% rating by NARAL and the Hemlock Society. What is your response? What other factors would help you decide how to vote?
- Case 4: You are approached by a beggar on the street. What factors would you consider on whether you should help him or not, and if you do help him, what would you do?
- Case 5: You are asked to support an organization that works among the poor to relieve their suffering. What factors would you consider on whether you should support it or not?
