

Growing Kid's God's Way – This Week at Home

There is a direct relationship between doing the homework and success in applying the principles. You will need more than just a casual understanding of what you are about to learn. You may be asked to share some of your insights and discussions of the following questions.

Chapter 6 - Character Development: Respect for Authority and Parents

1. a) Read Chapter 6 in your workbook
b) Answer Questions for Review in your workbook
2. Continue having couch time 4-5 times a week.
3. Be prepared to share a couple of examples of blatant offenses against authority you observe during the week at work, while shopping, or while driving down the road.
4. Evaluate with your spouse your own relationship with your parents. Do you honor them out of duty or devotion? Evaluate why, and be prepared to share your thoughts in class.
5. Supplementary Reading for BLENDED Families: Read Chapter 6 of Blending Families By the Book.

Questions for Review - Chapter 6

Character Development: Respect for Authority and Parents

1. Read Romans 13:1. Based on this verse, why should parents train their children to respect authority?
2. Why is submitting to authority a natural struggle for children and adults?
3. Explain the purpose of obedience in the life of a child.
4. Explain the difference between honoring parents out of duty and honoring out of devotion.